

Habitat for Humanity Washington County

The ministry of Habitat for Humanity Washington County is a relationship between God, the partner families, and the community. Habitat sells its units to low-income Washington County families that demonstrate:

- 1- A need for improved housing (Determined through a Habitat Selection Committee home visit)
- 2- The ability to pay for the home (Income between 30% and 60% of the Wash. Co. median income)
- 3- Willingness to partner with Habitat (Each adult over 18 years commits 250 hours of sweat equity to Habitat)

Habitat uses Biblical economics, selling the homes at no profit with no interest, and giving each family a long term amortization schedule to pay.

Habitat must follow all building codes and pass all building inspections, and takes pride in demonstrating the skill of professional and lay volunteer builders. Habitat strives to build Energy Star rated homes with doors, windows and insulation of top quality.

Habitat builds simple, quality, and affordable homes for people in all walks of life. Habitat for Humanity Washington County is also a global partnership, tithing 10% of all unrestricted donations to Habitat affiliates in Thailand.

We look forward to your partnership and pray that God will bless us all in this mutual ministry.
